

Debug Symbols

These symbols are a Windows only feature and can be used in conjunction with identifying crashes within any UPDD modules and are mainly for internal use. However, occasionally technical users have asked for access to these symbols for their own debugging purposes. To this end we have made these symbols externally available on our symbol server at <http://symbols.touch-base.com/Symbols>.

All builds from 6.0.211 onwards are supported.

The symbol server is not browse-able; but should be entered into the debug symbol options of a debugging tool, for example in Visual Studio
